For mazes, drawing, puzzles, and even a board game, plus information about children’s rights, look inside!
The Children are Unbeatable! Alliance and the Churches’ Network for Non-violence work to change the law to give children in the UK the same protection from violence as adults, in line with the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

It’s wrong to hit you. It’s wrong to hurt you. And the law should say so.

Guinny, Ollie and Titty helped us to think of these activities. Thank you for all your great ideas!

Draw a line between each Blob and their shoes....

Oops! We have lost our shoes. Can you help us find them?
It can be good to think about what it’s like being in someone else’s shoes. That means thinking about other people’s feelings and being kind to them. Decorate a pair of extra-special kindness shoes!

"The Golden Rule". This is a rule lots of different people use to help them decide how to behave.

It’s wrong to hurt you

You have the right to be safe

It’s wrong to hit you

Treat other people the same way as you would like to be treated.
Instructions
Cut out the game counters and the dice template. Stick the dice template together. Fold between the shoes to make them stand up.

Throw the dice to move along the board.

If you land on :
• You move 2 spaces forwards.
• You must also choose another player to move 2 spaces forwards.

If you land on :
• You move 2 spaces back.
• You must also choose another player to move 2 spaces back.

To make the game a bit harder, use the questions on the board. If you land on a question, you have to answer it. The other players decide if you are right or wrong. They have to talk about why they think that. When you’ve finished playing the game, you can read what the Blobs think about the questions on page 6.
Flip: I think c. is the right answer. Even if you feel angry, it’s wrong to hit or shout at your brother.

Splat: I think this is false. Some people might think that it’s OK for grown-ups to hit you to punish you. Sometimes this is called ‘smacking’. But I think all hitting is wrong. Nobody should hit you or hurt you.

Zig: I think this is true. Sometimes, we all feel sad, and that is fine. But nobody should make you feel sad on purpose by shouting at you or saying bad things to you.

Zog: I think either b. or c. are good answers. It depends how you feel. But you shouldn’t kick someone even if they have kicked you.

Plop: I think this is false. Everyone is important, and everyone has the right to be safe, no matter how big or small they are.

One day, Zog and Plop were feeling angry with each other.

What should they do?

Hit each other

Go away from each other

What else do you think we could do?

Draw or write about it here.
Sometimes, the big Blobs want the little Blobs to learn something. What should they do?
